

Raised in Ketchum, Idaho graduating at an honor level, while enrolled in the ski academy and outdoor leadership academy with a focus in film and environmental studies, I have learned to merge my passions for storytelling, cinematography, and the outdoors in my professional career thus far. Traveling to various destinations around the world and taking on a number of different roles has shaped my diverse work experience among a range of departments. Examples include Alaska, where I produced my own short doc primarily focused on the effects global warming is having on the state, and the Mamanuca Islands of Fiji for CBS's ongoing series, Survivor. Additionally, Baja, where I took on the role of Associate Producer on a 6-week production, Virgin, UT, where I captured social content for RedBull Bike, and a number of other unique locations.
